Photo Coach

Expert Tips for Beautiful Travel Photography

Who doesn't wish they could better capture the colourful and unique moments of their travels? David Smith, a world travel & fine art photographer from Vancouver, is aboard Insignia as a photo coach on several segments of the Around the World in 180 Days voyage. His recent publications include the Wall Street Journal, National Geographic Traveller, Geo Saison Magazine and USA Today Travel Online. Below, he and his wife, Anna, share simple and effective tips for taking better photos on shore excursions.

1. RESEARCH YOUR TOUR ITINERARY by reading the detailed tour descriptions and attend shore excursion presentations on board. Learning about the locations in advance will help prepare your photography strategy and a shot list. Local tour operators can move you around quickly so always have your camera ready for those once in a lifetime photo opportunities. Practice your camera techniques before touring to avoid fumbling with your camera on site.

2. LOCATE YOURSELF FOR UNCLUTTERED SHOTS. If there is live entertainment or a cultural demonstration sit in the front or side of the audience to get unfettered action images. Consider walking about during the show to get different angles and distances from the action. All entertainers and presenters are willing to have their photographs taken. You paid for the tour and presenters are paid by the tour operator as well, so get your cameras out and ask. Be sure to capture locals in ethnic dress.

3. CREATE A PHOTO STORY OF THE TOUR to create more interest when you share your photography later. Capture your guide, the sign on the front of the bus, flags, icons and symbols as well as the typical shots. Get establishing shots (the most common type), medium range shots and close-ups to keep interest.

David looks forward to meeting many of you aboard Insignia. For more photo tips, visit David's blog: <http://interfaceimages.com/blog>.

We all return from travelling with hundreds – sometimes even thousands – of photos capturing our memorable experiences. Rather than become overwhelmed with the quantity at the end, take these steps below to get ready to share your great images from the beginning.

1. Make sure your camera is set to the correct time and date. This simple step will ensure each photo you take is correctly tagged, making them easier to sort and search in the future.

2. Review photos at the end of each day. Delete any unwanted, duplicate or blurry photos that you know you definitely won't want so they don't clutter your memory card.

3. Keep a list of places you've seen or things you've done each day. This will make it much easier to sort and create albums once you have time to organise and share your photos.

4. Bring your USB cord. If you have some downtime, you can visit Oceania@Sea and transfer your photos to an online photo management website or a CD so you can organise as you go.

CRUISE DIRECTOR PROFILE DOTTIE KULASA 27 Years at Sea

"I just fell in love with being on a ship and the travel aspect of the industry."

It was the winter of 1978 when Cruise Director Dottie Kulasa took her very first cruise, trading Pennsylvania's harsh winter weather for the balmy Caribbean. As the ship sailed among tropical islands, Dottie knew she was hooked.

"I just fell in love with being on a ship and the travel aspect of the industry," she said.

This spring marks Dottie's 27th anniversary at sea, and all of these years later, she says she enjoys her role now more than ever.

"Here at Oceania Cruises, I am so engaged with the guests," Dottie said. "I love being the spark that allows them to relax and have a wonderful vacation."

Dottie's life at sea is also what led her to meet her husband, stand-up comedian Tom Drake, nearly 19 years ago aboard a ship. They still enjoy travelling and working together since Tom is a comedian for Oceania Cruises.

Rejuvenate at Canyon Ranch SpaClub® Top Spa Treatments for Jet Lag

The arrival to your destination is always worth it, but jet lag can put a bit of a damper on the first few days of your trip. Several types of spa treatments are actually some of the most highly recommended jet lag solutions – which gives you a great reason to have an appointment waiting for you at the Canyon Ranch SpaClub®. The spa treatments that help your body recover most quickly from jet lag are those that reactivate sluggish circulation, boost energy, reduce water retention and encourage muscle relaxation.

On your next voyage, rejuvenate with one of our recommended spa treatments, so you can slip into relaxed holiday mode right from day one.

1. Detoxifying Ritual - 80 minutes

Retreat into a ritual of steam and deep detox through a therapeutic transformation in this six-step healing massage ritual. Enjoy a refreshing cleanse of Moroccan mint tea and silt, followed by an invigorating scrub with a blend of coffee, olive stones and fresh lemons. Relax as you are wrapped in rich rhassoul clay to draw deep impurities out of the body. Recharge with quince and orange blossoms, and increase circulation with a Turkish massage using the curative essences of cardamom, jasmine, bergamot, amber and clove. Finally, enjoy a soothing layer of shea butter and figs to protect, heal and restore.

2. Organic Liquid Seaweed Wrap - 50 minutes

This refreshing and detoxifying wrap features organic muslin soaked in pure seaweed extracts, cold-pressed within one hour of harvesting on the wild Northwest Coast of Ireland. Seaweed offers many nutritive and healing benefits, including detoxification, metabolism boosting and a natural anti-aging boost. This wrap delivers an immediate and noticeable plumping and toning of the skin, making your skin look refreshed and supple.

3. Tension-Zone Massage - 50 minutes

Stiff shoulders and neck from a long flight? Let it all melt away this concentrated de-stresser. A full palette of sophisticated touch techniques reduces tension where it lives – your head, neck, shoulders and back. Sleep soundly and say goodbye to nagging headaches so you can fully embrace your holiday.
